

A DRAMA group has been given a regional award for one of its productions.

The National Operatic & Dramatic Association (NODA) handed Worle Operatic & Dramatic Society its Regional Award for Excellence for the society's performance of the comedy Anything Goes.

The play was performed at The Playhouse in Weston last November and NODA judges watched productions across the South West before deciding to give their annual award to the Worle group.

Society members are now rehearsing hard for their next production, The Pajama Game.
